Justice Chanduru panel's recommendation will hurt Hindus: Ex-Serviceman Bhaskaran send petitions to Supreme Court Chief Justice!

Madurai: Ex-Serviceman and Veera Hindu Federation state advisor Bhaskaran has sent a petition to the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of India.

In that petition he mentioned, "The bench of the Chief Justice of India regarding NEET has issued an appropriate order in the interest of the students based on that the NEET exam is going on.

Meanwhile, TN state govt. set up a commission headed by retired Justice AK Rajan against the judicial sovereignty of the Supreme Court of India in this matter. It is noteworthy that the Supreme Court of India did not approve his recommendations.

Currently, the Tamil Nadu government, under the leadership of retired Justice K. Chanduru, had arbitrarily set up a commission (without obtaining any permission from the Supreme Court of India or the Madras High Court to set up this commission) in an effort to avoid caste and violence among school and college students. In the commission's report, retired Justice Mr Chanduru recommended banning students from wearing colored ropes, rings on their hands and tilak on their foreheads as derogatory to a particular religion (Hinduism) which is highly questionable. It is against Indian sovereignty and Hinduism in particular. Hindus come with ropes on their hands and Tilak on their foreheads to pray to the deities they worship to protect them in the hope that there will be no harm to their health. The commission's recommendation was to disenfranchise Hindus.

Therefore, I humbly request you to take this petition on your own initiative as a Public Interest Litigation or Sumoto in the interest of the public and take appropriate legal action in this regard and render appropriate justice.
